Nature Of Opinion

Docket Number: E-01933A-15-0322

I spent approximately $10,000 to install solar panels in 2013. At that time, the solar company estimated my electric bills to be $38 per month. After three years, they have averaged $58 per month, a 52% increase!

Any rate increase or change to net metering will affect my negatively. My contract with the Solar Company is being invalidated by TEP rate increases. How can individuals confidently enter into contracts when TEP keeps changing the rules? I would not have spent $10,000 of my hard-earned money if I had known about these proposed increases. Already the investment has not been worth it....the payback period was supposed to be 8 years, now it will be longer.

Do not approve the rate application of TEP. Arizona homeowners with solar, and future solar power homeowners will be negatively affected, in a significant amount.
